Made from family recipes.

Nikki's Cookies taste just like you baked them at home, because they are made from old family recipes that were handed down to Nikki from her grandmothers. Traveling the world during her modeling career, Nikki tasted recipes from many different countries. She realized that the old family recipes from home were the best! The sugar cookie recipe came from her mother, Eleanor, and they taste exceptionally delicious!

Old World taste that comes from using quality ingredients.

It is often said that Nikki's Cookies has the best gingerbread in the country! The recipe is from Nikki's grandmother, who came from Germany. The shortbread recipe is a family tradition that is dated back to the 1600's! It came from Nikki's relative, Sarah Reed, from Blyborough, England. Made with over 35% butter, these shortbread cookies almost melt in your mouth!

Enjoy the tradition!

These unique and exceptional tasting cookies are made with the highest quality ingredients and are a gift from Nikki's family to you.
